Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 02 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers moving north throughout the day likely thundery at times.

Today:
A mostly fine start, but heavy showers, likely turning thundery, will arrive in south Wales by late morning and move northwards across the country through the day. Driest and brightest conditions in the north. Breezy along coasts at times. Maximum temperature 26 deg C (79 deg F).

Tonight:
Becoming dry with clear spells in south Wales this evening, as heavy and potentially thundery showers move into north Wales. Turning dry with widespread cloud throughout during the early hours. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Thursday:
A dry day with widespread cloud in the morning dispersing throughout the day to become largely clear by evening. Feeling cooler than previous days. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Fine and dry on Friday. Largely fine on Saturday with isolated showers. Cloudier on Sunday with showers and the occasional sunny interval. Feeling warm throughout, however cooler than previous days.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.